Motor Skills Training

Finger movements play a crucial part in keyboarding. Activities with the letters appearing while kids type, mimicking the moves in actual typing help kids make the connection. By playing and completing these interactive games, students in every age will be memorizing the movements they'll need to type in school and life.

Step-by-Step Training

TypeTastic units follow carefully planned and constructed steps that help students achieve their goals efficiently. In all typing units, students start either by typing letter and words and slowly proceed to type sentences, paragraphs and lengthier passages of text. We feel that students are more motivated to type actual text than repetitive letter combinations.
