readwritethink.org

Your link to engaging reading and language arts resources

You don't have to go any further than your desktop to find outstanding educational, interactive, and engaging resources to foster literacy learning within and beyond the classroom.

ReadWriteThink.org blends proven instruction and Internet technology to deliver powerful online tools for teaching reading and language arts in grades K-12.

ReadWriteThink.org is produced by the literacy experts at the International Reading Association and the National Council of Teachers of English, through a generous grant provided by the Verizon Foundation.

Member of the Verizon Thinkfinity consortium.
